Dear Melissa Weipert,

I am a Michigan voter and I am writing to you in your role as clerk for the House Committee on Elections and Ethics. I am strongly opposed to bills 335 and 336, which are designed to circumvent campaign contribution limits and allow unlimited contributions.

Unlimited campaign contributions undermine the principle of one citizen, one vote by allowing the wealthy to buy more time and attention from politicians than the "average citizen."

That is simply un-American.

I ask the committee not to pass these deeply unethical bills.

Sincerely,
Danielle LaVaque-Manty
